

This image shows a page of cursive handwriting practice. The page is filled with rows of letters, primarily 'w' and 'e', written in a fluid cursive script. Interspersed among these rows are several large, dark, hand-drawn scribbles, which appear to be a form of self-correction or a break in the practice session. The paper has a light beige background with faint horizontal lines.

Ean Williams

